January 2024 Review

Confidence in a first quarter policy rate cut by the Federal Reserve waned throughout the month as multiple data releases pointed to a strong US economy. The last day of January gave further weight to this rhetoric as the Fed held rates steady and Jerome Powell cautioned that a cut in March is not the most likely case. Stock markets rolled back some of their gains on the news, after some bourses including the S&P 500 had reached new all-time highs during the month.

The Fund aptly captured the general rise in stock markets as a feared 'hard-landing' in the US looks to have been avoided for now. It was also well positioned in China-related stock indices which moved against most global peers on increasing jitters about the state of China's economy. Bond yields broadly rose as market participants readjusted to the reducing likelihood of imminent cuts. The Fund's mixed positioning in the sector ended slightly down. Whereas, in currency markets, the push back of a first Fed rate cut also caused the US dollar to appreciate against most major peers, whilst the BoJ's continued differing monetary policy mechanisms caused the yen to depreciate. Both moves led to gains for the Fund.

Cocoa's 2023 price surge showed no signs of abating with increasingly tight supplies pushing both futures higher. The Fund's long positions continue to generate strong performance. The energy sector also ended the month up with short positions in falling European energy markets combining well with longs across rising US markets.

February 2024 Review

Major stock indices in the US, Europe, and Japan hit all-time highs. The surge in risk sentiment was driven primarily by Nvidia's larger than expected revenues, which were boosted by strong demand for their artificial intelligence chips. Meanwhile, US inflation recorded higher than predicted, leading investors to lower their expectations that interest rate cuts would occur soon. This view was reinforced by the latest minutes from the Federal Reserve meeting, which showed most officials were concerned about the risks associated with reducing rates prematurely.

The US dollar strengthened as investors pared backed rate cut expectations, benefitting the Fund's long exposure to the currency. Gains also came from the Fund's short Japanese yen exposure, as a softened tone from Japanese central bankers reassured the market that monetary policy would remain accommodative, weakening the yen. In stock indices the Fund's net long exposure made modest gains, aided by the rally in stock markets within the month.

In commodity markets, agriculturals made the majority of the Fund's gains, notably from long cocoa positions. These markets continued to rally and reached record highs due to poor weather conditions and disease affecting crop yields in Ghana and the Ivory Coast. In energies, the Fund's short position in European emissions generated profits as demand from the power and industrial sectors remained low.

March 2024 Review

Further signs that major central banks are on track to cut interest rates spurred a global stock market rally, with some benchmark stock indices closing at record highs. The Swiss National Bank became the first major central bank to cut interest rates post-pandemic, issuing a surprise 25 basis point rate cut. In the US, a unanimous vote left rates unchanged however officials signalled the Federal Reserve remains on course to cut interest rates later this year. In stark contrast, the Bank of Japan made a historic monetary policy shift by hiking interest rates for the first time since 2007. Despite this development, the Japanese yen continued to tumble to a multi-decade low against the US dollar.

Gains from stock indices were driven by long positions, primarily across European and Asian indices, as markets rallied. In currencies, the Mexican peso surged to its highest level against the US dollar in nearly a decade, buoyed by high interest rates and low volatility. This led to profits for the Fund's long exposure to the Mexican peso against the US dollar. The decline of the Japanese yen continued to generate profits for the Fund's net short exposure to the currency.

Positive performance in commodity markets was concentrated in agriculturals, particularly the Fund's long exposure to strongly trending cocoa markets. Ongoing supply shortages continued to drive prices higher. In energies, the Fund's short US natural gas position profited from falling prices amidst oversupply concerns however these gains were offset by losses from short positions in European emissions and electricity markets.

April 2024 Review

Following a third consecutive higher-than-expected US inflation print, expectations for Fed rate cuts this year receded. As a result, the six-month long rally in global stock indices faltered, with fixed income markets also selling off. The yen continued its tumble and hit a 34-year low of 160 against the US dollar leading to speculation that the Bank of Japan potentially intervened in support of the currency. Across commodity markets, strong demand-side factors pushed metals higher while energy markets were volatile due, in part, to geopolitical uncertainty in the Middle East.

In financials, the Fund's net short position in bonds generated gains, especially across the US yield curve. In stock indices, most losses originated from the Fund's reducing net long positions in developed markets indices as well as from shorts in China-related indices, as Chinese equities rallied off the back of improving factory activity. The re-calibration of US policy rates weighed on the Japanese yen, as Japanese policy rates remain anchored close to zero. The Fund's shorts in the yen against both the euro and the US dollar generated gains.

Performance across commodities was muted. In metals, long copper positions made gains as prices rose due to the growing expectation that future demand will outstrip supply due to increasing AI adoption and the global transition to greener energy sources. However, these gains were offset by losses from the Fund's short positions in nickel and aluminium, which rallied as new sanctions on Russia's supply of these metals were announced. Losses were sustained across European energies as a bounce-back in European economic activity pushed prices higher, going against the Fund's short positions.

May 2024 Review

The global inflation saga continued to drive markets in May. Oscillating market sentiment initially flicked back to the belief that major central banks' hiking cycles may be drawing to a close. The month began with softer than expected jobs data in the US, as well as less hawkish Federal Reserve rhetoric. Both combined to drive yields lower before retracing upwards after a series of poor Treasury auctions. The potential for lower rates helped push equities to record highs by mid-month, however, similar to fixed income instruments, prices had moderated by the end of the period as sentiment cooled.

Strong signals that the Fed may be nearing its first rate cut of the cycle went against the Fund's well established short fixed income positions, leading to losses at the start of the month. This rolled over into currency markets as long US dollar positions felt the effect of the potential weakening of the dollar's rate differential. Offsetting positive performance was captured from long positions in stock indices and credit markets.

Commodity markets proved challenging for the Fund. Metal markets were initial beneficiaries of the softening inflation setting and the resultant weakening of the US dollar. However, the pullback in the latter stages of the month left the sector flat. In agriculturals, negative performance was spread across markets with idiosyncratic effects driving minor losses throughout the sector. Losses in natural gas drove energy sector performance as tighter supplies reversed gas prices against the prevalent downward trend.

June 2024 Review

Contradicting US economic data blurred the picture for growth and inflation. European political developments, which included the calling of a snap election in France, spread further uncertainty in markets. US equities failed to be deterred and major benchmarks notched all-time highs, fuelled by mega-cap technology companies. Markets remained on alert for additional currency intervention from the Bank of Japan, as the Japanese yen fell against the US dollar to its weakest level since 1986. After issuing a widely anticipated rate cut, the European Central Bank went on to surprise markets with an upward revision of inflation expectations. Similarly, the Swiss National Bank announced its second 25bps rate cut of the year.

Heightened political uncertainty was responsible for widening spreads amongst European government bonds. The Fund experienced losses as German yields fell, moving against the Fund's short exposure to German bonds. The Fund's short positions in US treasuries also suffered losses as prices rose on softer-than-expected US inflation data. In currencies, the Fund continued to profit from the Japanese yen's weakness against both the US dollar and euro.

Gains from the Fund's long positions in Asian stock indices were offset by losses from long positions in Europe, as markets in the region tumbled on political turmoil.

In agriculturals, the Fund's gains were generated by short positions in grains as prices fell on reports that more acres were planted than expected. Performance from energy markets was primarily driven by the Fund's long exposure to oil and gas markets and short exposure to European emissions. Oil prices rose, helped by tight supplies heading into demand-heavy holiday season as well as growing tensions in the Middle East. Meanwhile European electricity prices fell, in part due to growth in renewable energy, which contributed to downwards price pressure on emissions markets. The Fund's net long exposure to metals led to losses, particularly in copper. Prices of the metal fell from record highs as economic data from China bolstered concerns over disappointing demand recovery.

Gains from stock indices were driven by long positions across all regions, as markets rallied globally. In currencies, the Mexican peso surged to its highest level against the US dollar in nearly a decade, buoyed by high interest rates and low volatility. This led to profits for the Fund's long exposure to the Mexican peso against the US dollar. The Fund made profits in long metal positions, particularly in gold and copper. Increased Chinese retail demand, heightened geopolitical tensions and expanding sovereign debt burdens supported gold's rally. Meanwhile, the growing expectation that future copper demand will outstrip supply due to increasing AI adoption and the transition to greener energy sources fuelled the metal's ascent. Losses were sustained across European energies as a bounce-back in European economic activity pushed prices higher, going against the Fund's short positions.

The Fund's net long exposure to metals led to broad-based losses across both precious and industrial metals. In copper markets, Chinese warehouses recorded their biggest glut of the commodity in four years amidst tepid consumer demand. This led to losses from the Fund's long copper positions.

The condensed interim financial statements do not contain all of the information and disclosures required in the audited financial statements for year ended 31 December 2023 and should be read in conjunction with the annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2023. The annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2023. Severe prepared in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("US GAAP").

The accounting policies applied in the preparation of the interim condensed financial statements are consistent with those applied in the preparation of the Company's annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2023.

The Company is considered an investment company as defined in the FASB Accounting Standard Codification ("ASC") Topic 946, Financial Services – Investment Companies ("ASC 946"). The financial statements are prepared on a basis of going concern and in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP") using the specialised guidance within ASC 946 and in accordance with the Companies Act 2014 and all regulations to be construed as one with the Companies Act 2014. The financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis, except for the valuation of financial instruments classified at fair value through profit and loss.

The Company meets all the conditions set out in ASC 946, and consequently has availed of the exemption available not to prepare a statement of cash flows.

The Aspect Systematic Global Macro Fund ceased trading on 19 December 2023, but remains open to future investments. There are no immediate plans to reopen the Aspect Systematic Global Macro Fund to new investments. The Aspect Core UCITS Fund temporarily ceased trading on 08 August 2023 and resumed on 15 March 2024.

The following is a summary of the significant accounting and reporting policies used in preparing the financial statements.

(a) Foreign currency translation

The books and records of the Company are maintained in US Dollars, which is the functional currency of the Company.

Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into US Dollars using closing rates of exchange at the reporting date, while income and expenses are translated at the daily spot rates of exchange. All foreign currency realised and unrealised gains or losses are included in the Statement of Operations.

Transactions in foreign currencies are translated at the exchange rate ruling at the date of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the Statement of Assets and Liabilities date are translated to the reporting currency at the exchange rate ruling at period end. Foreign exchange differences arising from translation are recognised in the Statement of Operations. The Company isolates that portion of the results of operations arising from the effect of changes in foreign exchange rates on investments from fluctuations arising from changes in market prices of investments held.

Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies that are stated at fair value are translated to the reporting currency at the exchange rates ruling at the dates that the values are determined. Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies that are stated at historical cost are translated at exchange rate ruling at the date of transaction.

(b) Valuation of investments

Investments in securities, which are listed or quoted on a securities exchange or other regulated market, are valued at the last available traded price. Investments in securities, which are not listed or quoted on a securities exchange or other regulated market, or if, being so listed or quoted, are not regularly traded thereon or in respect of which no prices as described above are available, are valued at fair value giving regard to valuations provided by independent brokers and valuation agents or pricing models that consider the time value of money and the current market and contractual prices and potential volatilities of the underlying assets, the cost price, the price at which any recent transaction in the security may have been effected, comparison to other quoted instruments on a market multiple basis, and any other factors as the Investment Manager deems relevant. For more information on the fair values of investments please refer to Note 6 "Fair value information".

Investments, other than securities (such as, but not limited to, derivative contracts), which are not dealt in or traded through a clearing firm or exchange ("over-the-counter ("OTC") derivative contracts") are valued at fair value giving regard to the cost price, the latest available valuation provided by the relevant counterparty or other independent brokers or valuation service providers, including third party pricing feeds and pricing models that consider the time value of money and the current market and contractual prices and potential volatilities of the underlying financial instruments. Counterparty and broker valuations may be indicators of interest and may not be the prices at which the investment may trade.

(c) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with US GAAP requires the Investment Manager to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts in the financial statements. The Investment Manager believes that the estimates utilised in preparing its financial statements are reasonable and prudent, however, actual results could differ from those reported.

(d) Income and expense recognition

Realised gains and losses on security transactions are determined using the First in First out ("FIFO") cost basis. Interest income and expenses are recorded on an accrual basis using the effective interest rate method.

(e) Taxation

Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 740-10 "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes – an interpretation of ASC 740" clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognised in the Company's financial statements in conformity with ASC 740 "Accounting for Income Taxes". ASC 740-10 prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position or expected position to be taken on a tax return.

Given the investment objective of the Company's Sub-Funds and the trading strategies and instruments traded/held by the Company's Sub-Funds there are no uncertain tax positions and therefore ASC 740-10 has no impact on the Company's Sub-Fund's Statement of Assets and Liabilities or Statement of Operations for the period ended 30 June 2024 and for the financial year ended 31 December 2023.

Under current law and practice the Company qualifies as an investment undertaking as defined in Section 739B of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997, as amended. On this basis, the Company will not be liable to tax in respect of its income and gains, other than on the occurrence of a chargeable event. Generally, a chargeable event arises on any distribution, redemption, repurchase, cancellation; transfer of shares or on the ending of a "Relevant Period". A "Relevant Period" being an eight-year period beginning with the acquisition of the shares by the shareholder and each subsequent period of eight years beginning immediately after the preceding Relevant Period.

A gain on a chargeable event does not arise in respect of:

- (i) any transactions in relation to shares held in a recognised clearing system as designated by order of the Revenue Commissioners of Ireland;
- (ii) the exchange by a shareholder of shares in the undertaking for other shares in the investment undertaking;
- (iii) an exchange of shares arising on a qualifying amalgamation or reconstruction of the Company with another fund;
- (iv) certain exchanges of shares between spouses and former spouses;

(e) Taxation (continued)

- (v) an exchange by a shareholder, effected by way of an arm's length bargain where no payment is made to the shareholder of share in the Company for other shares in the Company;
- (vi) shareholders who are neither Irish Resident nor Irish Ordinary Resident for tax purposes at the time of the chargeable event and who have provided the Company with a relevant declaration to that effect;
- (vii) certain exempted Irish tax resident shareholders who have provided the Company with the necessary signed statutory declarations.

(f) Transferable securities

(i) Certificates

The Sub-Funds invest in certificates which are a type of structured debt instrument that falls in the categorisation of 'transferable securities' as contemplated by the Central Bank UCITS Regulations. The certificates are issued by corporate entities incorporated in Jersey and whose share capital is held by a charitable trust. The certificates are independently valued on a daily basis by a third-party administrator, currently Crestbridge Corporate Services Limited, and are listed on the Irish Stock Exchange.

The investment by the Diversified Trends Fund in the certificates shall not exceed 30% of the NAV of the Diversified Trends Fund. The certificates provide exposure on a 1:1 basis to interests in the Cayman Underlying Investment Company. The investment by the Systematic Global Macro Fund in the certificates shall not exceed 20% of the NAV of the Systematic Global Macro Fund. The certificates provide exposure on a 1:1 basis to interests in the Irish Underlying Investment Fund. The investment by the Core UCITS Fund in the certificates shall not exceed 10% of the NAV of the NAV of the Core UCITS Fund. The certificates provide exposure on a 1:1 basis to interests in the Irish Underlying Investment Fund. The investment by the Core UCITS Fund in the certificates shall not exceed 10% of the NAV of the Core UCITS Fund. The certificates provide exposure on a 1:1 basis to interests in the Irish Underlying Investment Fund. The certificates do not embed leverage or financial derivative instruments. The subset of asset classes traded by the Underlying Investment Companies is managed in accordance with the respective Programme but targeting an increased level of leverage in order to provide the Sub-Funds with the investment exposure they desire. The Underlying Investment Companies do not use explicit leverage which requires borrowing. However, leverage is inherent to the Programmes through the use of margin-traded instruments including instruments traded by the Underlying Investment Companies.

(ii) Treasury bills

The Sub-Funds also invest in treasury bills which are principally short term in nature. The fair value is based on quoted market prices which are available for these fixed income securities.

(iii) Open-ended investment funds

Investments in open-ended investment funds are typically valued utilising the net asset valuations provided by the managers of the underlying funds and/or their administrators.

(iv) Money Market funds

The Sub-Funds invest into daily dealing money market funds and certificates which have no liquidity concerns as at 30 June 2024. The investment objective of these money market funds is to maximise return in their respective reference currencies consistent with capital preservation and a high degree of liquidity.

(g) Futures contracts

A futures contract is an agreement between two parties to buy or sell a security, index or currency at a specific price or rate at a future date. Upon entering into a futures contract, the Sub-Funds are required to deposit with a broker an amount of cash or cash equivalents equal to a certain percentage of the contract amount. This is known as "initial cash margin". Subsequent payments ("variation margin") are made or received by the sub-fund each day, depending upon the daily fluctuation in the value of the contract. The Sub-Funds record future contracts at fair value. Changes in the fair value of future contracts are recorded as unrealised gains and losses. The Sub-Funds generally record a realised gain or loss on daily on future contract. The Sub-Funds account for the payment and receipt or variation margin for centrally cleared derivatives and futures contracts that are characterised as settled-to-market as settlements of those contracts and recognises daily settlements of settled-to-market contracts as realised gains or losses. In the Schedule of Investments, individual future contracts are disclosed at their open fair value at 30 June 2024 prior to the daily settlement of these contacts and the adjustment for settle to market variation margin is disclosed on an aggregate basis for all future positions.

(h) Forward foreign exchange contracts

A forward foreign exchange contract ("Forward contract") involves an obligation to purchase or sell a specific currency at a future date, at a price set at the time the contract is made. Forward contracts will be valued by reference to the forward price at which a new forward contract of the same size and maturity could be undertaken at the valuation date. The unrealised gain or loss on open forward contracts is calculated as the difference between the contract rate and this forward price and are recognised in the Statement of Operations.

(i) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents, including cash denominated in foreign currencies, consist of cash in hand and deposits with banks.

(j) Due to/from broker

Balances due to/from brokers represents variation margin on futures, other restricted cash and sales/purchases awaiting settlement. Other restricted cash represents collateral posted for derivatives transactions and cash deposits with brokers. Futures are 'settled-to-market' daily, whereby the daily variation margin is a partial settlement of the outstanding futures position. Sales/purchases awaiting settlement represent amounts receivable/payable for securities sold/purchased, but not yet settled as at the Statement of Assets and Liabilities date.

(k) Offsetting financial assets and liabilities

Financial assets and liabilities are offset when a current legal right of offset exists and there is intent to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously or on a net basis.

(l) Subscription receivable

In accordance with the Company's policy of trade date accounting, subscriptions awaiting settlement represent amounts receivable for subscriptions, but not yet settled. As at 30 June 2024, The Diversified Trends Fund had subscription receivable of US$1,505,664 (31 December 2023: US$ 758,693).

(m)Redemptions payable

A request for redemption of shares by an investor is considered a mandatorily redeemable financial instrument and is classified as a liability. Accordingly, requests for redemptions effective 1 July 2024 would be recorded as redemptions payable on the Statement of Assets and Liabilities as at 30 June 2024. As at 30 June 2024, the Company had redemptions payable of US$439,114 (31 December 2023: US$40,698,067).

(n) Net asset value per redeemable participating share

The net asset value (the "NAV") per redeemable share disclosed on the face of the Statement of Assets and Liabilities is calculated by dividing net assets included in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities by the number of redeemable participating shares outstanding at 30 June 2024 and 31 December 2023.

(o) Expenses

All expenses, including management and performance fees, are recognised in the Statement of Operations on an accrual basis.

6. Fair Value Information

Financial instruments are recorded at fair value. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (i.e. 'the exit price') in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

The fair value of the Company's financial assets and liabilities approximates the carrying amounts presented in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities.

A fair value hierarchy of inputs is used in measuring fair value that maximises the use of observable inputs and minimises the use of unobservable inputs by requiring that the most observable inputs be used when available. Observable inputs are those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability based on market data obtained from sources independent of the Company. Unobservable inputs reflect the Company's assumptions about the inputs market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances. The fair value hierarchy, as established by ASC 820, gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3).

Level 1 - unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access at the valuation date.

Level 2 - observable inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are not observable for the asset or liability either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the identical instrument on an inactive market, prices for similar instruments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, yield curves, default rates and similar data.

Level 3 - unobservable inputs for the asset or liability, to the extent that relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the Company's own assumptions about the assumptions that market participants would use in valuing the asset or liability. Unobservable inputs are developed based on the best information available.

Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of a particular market rather than an aggregation of participants such as an exchange-based measure. Therefore, even when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company's own assumptions are set to reflect those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date.

The Company uses prices and inputs that are current as of the measurement date, including during periods of market dislocation. In periods of market dislocation, the observability of prices and inputs may be reduced for many instruments. This condition could cause an instrument to be reclassified from Level 1 to Level 2 or Level 2 to Level 3.

7. Derivative Financial Instruments

Offsetting financial assets and financial liabilities

The Sub-Funds enter into master netting agreements wherever possible. Master netting agreements provide for the net settlement of contracts with the same counter party in the event of default. The credit risk associated with derivative financial assets subject to a master netting arrangement is eliminated only to the extent that financial liabilities due to the same counterparty will be settled after the assets are realised. The exposure to credit risk reduced by master netting arrangements may change significantly within a short period of time as a result of transactions subject to the arrangement.

Open forward foreign exchange contracts

The Sub-Funds use forward contracts as part of the Programme and to protect non base currency classes against fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates. Forward contracts are valued by reference to the forward price at which a new forward contract of the same size and maturity could be undertaken at the valuation date.

The unrealised gain or loss on open forward contracts is calculated as the difference between the contract rate and this forward price and is recognised in the Statement of Operations. Where a forward contract is purchased to hedge the currency risk of a specific class which is issued in a currency other than the base currency of the sub-fund, all gains and losses on that contract are allocated to that class.

Open forward contracts at 30 June 2024 are disclosed in the Schedule of Investments for each Sub-Fund.

8. Financial Risk Factors

The Company's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks (including currency risk, interest rate risk and price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The interim financial statements do not include all the financial risk management information and disclosures required in the annual financial statements and should be read in conjunction with the Company's annual financial statements as at 31 December 2023. The annual financial statements describe the risks associated with the Programmes, which remain the same.

9. Related party and connected persons disclosures

The Central Bank UCITS Regulations require that any transaction carried out with the Sub-Funds by a management company or Depositary and/or associate of these ("connected persons") are carried out as if negotiated at arm's length and are in the best interests of the shareholders.

The Board of Directors of the Manager is satisfied that there are arrangements, evidenced by written procedures, in place to ensure that the obligations set out in the Central Bank UCITS Regulations are applied to all transactions with a connected person, and that all transactions with a connected party during the period complied with the obligations set out in the Central Bank UCITS Regulations.
